music licensing

do
djs require a licence?

information for DJs

who needs a DJ licence?

You need a CONNECT DJ licence if:

- You are creating reproductions of sound recordings (on a computer hard drive, CD-Rs, cassettes or mini-discs).

You do not need a CONNECT DJ licence if:

- You are using the original LP's/cassettes/CD's you purchased in a record store.
- You are using CD's/CD-R's you have leased from a CONNECT licensed music supply service such (see pages 5-6).

If you belong to a DJ Association, your CONNECT licence may be included in your association fees. (See page 4)

”All-in-one” Standard DJ Licence

Standard “All-in-one” Licence

- Permits you to compress sound recordings into an MP3 format and store them on one (1) computer hard drive/memory card as well as unlimited physical carriers for $331.55 per calendar year (plus G.S.T./H.S.T.).
- You are also permitted to make one (1) backup copy, provided that the sound recordings are not performed in public.
- You are also permitted to make one (1) backup copy, provided that the sound recordings are not performed in public. Storing sound recordings on more than one computer hard drive requires an additional licence for each additional hard drive.

licensing through a DJ Association

If you are a member of a CONNECT licensed DJ Association, you may obtain the Standard “All-in-one” licensing through your association at a preferred rate. CONNECT licensed DJ associations are:

- Canadian Disc Jockey Association (CDJA)
www.cdja.org
- Canadian Professional Disc Jockey Association (CPDJA)
www.cpdja.com

music supply services

A list of CONNECT licensed MSS companies can be found on our website

Music Supply Services (MSS) use their programming expertise to provide DJ's and commercial users with compilations of popular sound recordings at industry standard quality. The MSS have CONNECT agreements that permit them to reproduce sound recordings on compilation CD's or CD-R's. If you use ONLY leased music from a CONNECT licensed MSS, you don't require any additional licensing from CONNECT.

Important information on CONNECT licensed MSS products:

- Any product that is produced by a CONNECT licensed music supply service will indicate on the CD/CD-R that the sound recordings are licensed by CONNECT. If this warning is not present, please contact us immediately
- You may not copy this product for any purpose whatsoever. Prohibition against copying Music Supply Service product is clearly visible on the face of the product and is also stated in the lease agreement, regardless of whether they are personal copies or copies for your employees.
The only exception is subscription discs provided in DFF or mp3 format, which is a specific MSS agreement that the supplier must have in place to be able to offer these types of discs to the subscriber
- It is clearly stated in the lease agreement and it is important to understand that you do not own the product you are receiving, you are leasing it.

it's important to know

- All reproductions must be licensed, even if you are not charging money for your services (e.g. doing a favour for a friend).
- Once you have purchased a DJ licence from CONNECT, you will receive a display licence that will confirm that your reproductions are licensed and of good quality. The quality of the reproductions you make must be up to industry standards.
- All reproductions must be made from commercially produced product made by record companies.
- You may not download sound recordings from the Internet except from specific authorized sources as listed on our website.
- CONNECT licensing fees are passed on to the music rights owners.

CONNECT cannot authorize:

- Synchronization (embedding of sound recordings into visual presentations.)
- Compiling sound recordings on CD-Rs to use as “give-aways”.

what does CONNECT do?

Buying an LP/CD/cassette doesn't give you the right to reproduce it for the purpose of entertaining the public. The liner notes of every LP/CD/cassette indicate who produced the album, and warn that unauthorized copying of sound recordings is strictly prohibited.

The Canadian Copyright Act is a federal law that protects creative endeavours by ensuring that the rights owner has the sole right to authorize the publication, performance or reproduction of the work. Section 18(1) of the Copyright Act provides that only the copyright owner can reproduce a sound recording or authorize the act of reproduction.<sup>1</sup>

Connect Music Licensing Service Inc. ("CONNECT") is a copyright collective that administers licensing in Canada on behalf of the makers of sound recordings and music videos (record companies). CONNECT represents over 2000 members, including all of the multi-national record companies and all of the major independent record companies. CONNECT's members hold the exclusive copyright interest in the vast majority of the sound recordings and music videos produced and/or distributed in Canada.
